The annual BCD banquet is Friday night and with its theme—Salute to the Oil Industry—it is hoped that a large crowd will turn out. This area owes a great debt to the oil industry in that there have been many times that the income for this industry has been all that has held this part of the country together.

With the oil situation what it is today, it is necessary that we give the oil men of this area all of the encouragement that we can.

If the first week of the 57th Legislature is any indication of what is to come, this session will top anything this state has ever seen. Their first official act was to vote themselves a $4,800 a year pay raise in spite of the fact that the state is presently operating $85,249,951 in the red.

In November the people of Texas voted to pay the legislators this money and at first glance it would seem that their actions were just the will of the people and their transferring of $2,600,000 from the cigarette tax and drivers license funds to pay for it was justified. But, back in 1950, the people of Texas passed a constitutional amendment setting up some 11 million dollars to be used for old people's medical care which the legislature has failed to provide money for. So it would seem that the people's mandate does not necessarily mean very much.

The people of this district can be proud that the representative, Leon Thurman, voted against the measure and was one of the members who tried unsuccessfully to amend the bill to cut the pay to $3,200 a year.

Thurman stated he opposed the bill because of the 96 million dollar deficit and that the bill would pay the members of the legislature more money than the state's teachers receive and because of the failure to provide for the old people's medical care.

He wrote in his report to the people of his district that, "In other words, we have too much money that needs to be spent in other places, than to be selfish and vote for the money for ourselves. However, this passed over my objection."

With this kind of selfish action I wonder if the majority of the legislature is worthy of the confidence placed in them by the people of Texas.

Was my face red last Thursday morning when Etta Bond called while out delivering the Herald to tell me that the post-office did not have our papers yet.

George Boren and I have always carried the papers over to the postoffice Wednesday night when we get through and then I carry him home, but it seems last week that George bought a car and after he put the papers in my car he went home in his car and I locked up and went home with the papers still in the back of my car.

What makes it worse is the fact that earlier Wednesday night I drove to Stamford and mailed Old Glory, Sylvester, and McCauley papers in order for them to get them Thursday morning. And then the local subscribers don't get theirs until Friday.

Boy, did the phone ring here Thursday.

The Jones County Livestock Show was held Saturday in Anson in their new show barn. The barn is quite an asset to Anson in that the show can be held inside under one roof. If Hamlin can not come up with a barn or something in time for the next show scheduled here it would be well to just have the show in Anson.

We received a real nice letter last week from the Eades of Crosbyton when we sent out renewal notices. It is letters like this that make all of the efforts involved in publishing a paper each week seem worthwhile. Knowing that their friends from here would like

By time they all arrived the fire had enveloped the whole house and there was little they could do to save it.

For the benefit of the American Legion, on Tuesday night, January 25, everybody is invited and urged to come to the school building to enjoy a "Pie Supper." If the ladies will help the boys they are asked to bring a pie. The pies will be auctioned off and the proceeds will go to the local Legion Post.

STATE CAPITAL

Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Texas' 57th Legislature began on a note that's likely to continue for some time—difficulty over money.

Many house members felt their colleagues had made an awkward start in an awkward situation when they voted themselves salary raises as the first item of business. House voted 97-45 to put into effect the $4,800 a year legislative salaries made possible when the people approved a constitutional amendment last November.

Objectors were quick to point out that (1) the state general revenue fund was at that moment $85,249,961 in the red and (2) many lawmakers campaigned on an "economy in government" platform.

Rep. Raymond Bartram of New Braunfels said he felt the people would rather legislators take care of teacher salary raises and medical assistance for the aged before spending extra money on themselves.

H. B. 1, the legislative salary and expense bill, would divert some $2,600,000 from the cigarette tax and drivers license funds. Money had to be "found," since the general revenue fund, as fast as it comes in, has to be used to pay the state's "hot checks."

Down the road are even more fireworks as the legislature searches for $200,000,000 plus to take care of the wants of other agencies and services.

TURMAN SPEAKER — Farmers and teachers have one of their own in one of the most important of state offices.

Rep. James Turman of Gopher was elected speaker of the House by a vote of 83-to-66. Rep. Wade Spilman of McAllen, whose support was largely from conservative House members, was the losing candidate.

Turman and his family operate a 103-acre farm in Fannin County. He is a former grade school teacher and worked his way to a doctor of philosophy degree in education. For a time he was assistant to the president of Texas Women's University at Denton.

As Speaker, Turman's first big job is appointing House committees, due to go into action about January 23. By his selections, he can influence to a considerable degree how certain legislation will be handled.

SENATOR ROBERTS HONORED—Sen. Ray Roberts of McKinney is president pro tempore of the Senate for the present session.

His job, largely honorary, is to preside over the Senate in the absence of the lieutenant governor. Also, he is second in line of succession to the governorship. By tradition, during each president pro tem's term, the governor and lieutenant governor leave so the senate president can serve as "governor for a day."

Senator Roberts, a World War II Naval hero, is a farmer and realtor.

GRIST FOR THE MILL—Texas Legislative Council, an influential joint House-Senate study group, will offer a mass of proposals for new legislation.

Among recommendations:

1. Some streamlining, but not to a wholesale re-writing of the state constitution. This will be a disappointment to groups working for steps toward a new constitution convention.

2. Limitation on the annexation powers of cities and towns.

3. Increased facilities for juvenile and care, including a home for dependent Negro children, facilities for mentally ill juveniles and region training centers for delinquent youths.

4. Higher minimum coverage requirements for automobile insurance. Present minimum is $5,000. A raise to $10,000 or $20,000 was suggested.

Another study group, a special Senate committee, recommends removal of some of the restrictions on investment of the permanent school fund. It suggests investments in corporate securities and real estate federal government.

COLLEGE BID REJECTED—Commission on Higher Education does not favor making Del Mar College in Corpus Christi a senior college.

Commission has agreed to study requests for senior college status and state support for Pan American at Edinburg and San Angelo College.

On Del Mar, the Commission will make its negative recommendation to the Legislature which will have the final say. In the past, the Legislature has approved more such requests than the Commission.

Omar Burleson, M. C.
17th District, Texas

WASHINGTON, D. C.—AS THIS IS PUBLISHED, a new President is being inaugurated. The Congress having convened on January 3, has the ball on the field but has not yet actually kicked off.

AS MENTIONED IN THIS COLUMN last week, perhaps Congress or new Administration has faced more difficult problems than now faces this one. Few legislative problems are new. They are just more numerous and more complicated.

PRECEDING ALL OTHER ISSUES by necessity has been the matter of revising Rules, on the proposition that the majority must control. The attempt to limit debate in the Senate has failed for the time. The Rules of the Senate remain, which means that those in the minority on specific issues may continue to exert their influence as they have in the past. The minority in this instance has no reference to party, but rather the conservatives, and particularly the Southerners whose great-weapon has been the filibuster.

THE RULES OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES are different. The Rules Committee, which is actually the traffic cop for legislation, has had its power reduced, which in the past has protected against radical-type Contracts have been awarded for construction of a second new State Office Building just north of the Capitol.

It will be a four-story granite building with 147,205 square feet. Cost is to be $2,076,102.

It will be known as State Office Building No. 2 and will house the Game and Fish Commission, State Board of Plumbing Examiners and some other agencies now scattered over Austin.

This is one of six buildings in the current program to create a unified government center, clustered around the State Capitol. Already in use are State Office Building No. 1, the State Courts Building and the Texas Employment Commission Building. Archives Building is to be finished soon, and a new insurance Building is due to start this year.

DECENTRALIZATION SET—State Game and Fish Commission has voted to set up a system of five regional and 20 district offices to improve operation of its field service.

Reorganization plan was recommended by the Texas Research League, a privately financed organization to study operation of governmental agencies.

Regional offices will be at Seabrook, Rockport, Tyler, San Angelo and Waco.

District offices will be at Amarillo, Beaumont, Bryan, Houston, Victoria, San Antonio, Edinburg, Corpus Christi, Lubbock, El Paso, Wichita Falls, Midland, Fort Worth, Temple, Brownwood, Kerrville, Dallas, Texarkana, Palestine and Lufkin.

legislation from reaching the floor for debate.

ON THE FACE OF THINGS, it would appear that in all instances the majority should control. However, under our system of government, it becomes fundamental that the majority not always control. Our system was conceived on the principle that the majority may not always prove to be right, and hence, the requirement for a two-thirds vote on fundamental changes.

HISTORY IS FULL OF TRAGEDY by reason of the action of the majority. A great Senator from Missouri, James A. Reed, once reminded us that:

The majority crucified Christ.

The majority burned Christians at the stake.

The majority drove Jews out of Israel and into the ghetto.

The majority established slavery.

The majority chained to stakes and surrounded with circles of flame martyrs through all the ages of the world's history.

The majority jeered Columbus when he said the world was round.

The majority threw him into a dungeon for having discovered a new world.

The majority said that Galileo must recant or must go to prison.

The majority cut off the ears of John Pym because he dared advocate the liberty of the press.

SO IT IS TODAY THAT under the due process of legislative procedures the machinery of Constitutional Government should always be in readiness to protect our Nation from what, at the time, may be the majority rule.

IF, AS ADVOCATED BY MANY, organized groups, minority nationalities and minority opinions are to be protected in one place, then the minority of conservative opinion and action in the Congress should likewise be protected.

Whichever size you go for, you'll go better in a Dodge

Some people like full-size cars. Others prefer compacts. Either way, it's OK by us. We make both. Our standard-size car is the Dodge Dart. It is priced model for model with Ford and Chevrolet. However, Dart has features its major competitors can't match: A unitized, rust-proofed body.

Torsion-bar front suspension. And a new device called an alternator-generator that charges at idle, makes a battery last far longer than usual. There are 23 Dart models with Economy Slant Six or one of five V8 engines. Try the full-size Dodge Dart at your dependable Dodge Dealer.

S. GEOLOGICAL SURVEY STUDIES BRAZOS POLLUTION

Ed. note: This is the first of a two part series regarding a study being conducted by the Brazos River Authority to eliminate salt pollution of the Brazos River.)

Geologists of the U. S. Geological Survey now believe a natural outcropping of salt which pollutes the Brazos River is a part of a huge strata of which also contaminates dams in New Mexico, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Kansas.

The geologists, working on a report for the Brazos River Authority, said the huge salt deposit was created during the Tertiary Age, several million years ago.

The geological formation is about when a branch of the ocean, which extended into the huge five state area, was off by some land upheaval, through the ages the water in the landlocked area evaporated and left the deposits of salt. Later upheavals of land buried the salt strata in some localities and left other areas with surface outcroppings.

The Brazos River Authority recommended that the entire salt strata be studied by the USGS to determine its extent and complete extent and pollution abilities.

W. J. Baker, USGS geologist, said the salt is polluting the Colorado and Red Rivers in Texas as well as the Brazos and other streams in the other states.

Each place this salt formation comes near the ground surface it pollutes streams, Baker said.

The study, which has been conducted over several years by the USGS, the Brazos River Authority and the Texas Board of Water Engineers as a joint project, has pinpointed the Brazos pollution area as Salt Croton Creek, sometimes called Dove Creek. This creek is located north of Jayton, Texas near the corners of Kent, Stonewall and King counties.

More than 40 per cent of the salt pollution of the Brazos River comes from this area, the geologist said.

The report will reveal that this one stream, at times, pours as much as 660 tons of salt per day into the Brazos River.

And USGS Chemist L. S. Hughes said at times the water in the creek is 10 times as salty as ocean water.

The creek water is what chemists call super saturated which means simply that more salt is dissolved in the water than the water can hold. Bottles of the water taken for samples, soon are coated on the bottom with layers of salt crystals which settle out, leaving the water completely saturated.

In order to get full and complete reports on the salt pollution, the geologists of USGS have established streamflow stations at numerous points in the polluting area. At these points the amount of water passing by is recorded, samples of the water are taken and studied and thus the scientists can determine the exact amount of pollution.

The three agencies are conducting the study in the Brazos area to provide information which in turn will provide plans for ridding the Brazos River of its salty reputation.

Some of the ideas for these plans will be discussed in the second of this series.

Since the weather has been so wet the work was not started on the Fairview Baptist Church last week as planned, but as the sun is shining this Monday morning the men should come from Abilene and start.

We are all almost afraid to say it, but the sunshine is a welcome sight right now, but we all know next spring it could be a different story. The rain has been fine, but the young wheat does need some sun.

Mrs. E. C. Gray, mother of Winsen Gray, had surgery in the Anson hospital last week.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

HER JACK-OF-ALL-TRADES

Dear Amy:

I have been married 18 years and have three children. I have always had to go out and work and support my family. My husband always stayed home and he never cared if he worked or not. When he got a job it didn't last long and he would never give me the money he made. He is a jack-of-all-trades and I must admit he is handy to have around the house.

He left home and stayed away 11 months. Last week he returned. Our television set was broke and I gave him money to buy tubes for it. He used the money for transportation and disappeared again. I later found out he was living with his cousin's wife and her two children.

I couldn't let it go on. He had never done anything like this before. The children missed him so much I went after him and brought him back home. I told him that I was tired of working and it was time he took over. But I don't think he will change any after 18 years. What should I do? He says he loves me.

Mrs. H.B.

Dear Mrs. H.B.:

When a man says he loves you but hasn't worked for 18 years to prove it, what he really loves is the soft life you make possible for him to lead. Before you attempt any do-it-yourself repairs on this flat tire, get professional guidance from the Family Service Agency. You need it and it's free for the asking!

Dear Amy:

Do you think 14 and 15-year-olds should be left alone in the house when they are having a party? My husband says they should be chaperoned but I disagree. Which one do you think is right?

Anxious to Know

Dear Amy:

I never used to believe that a woman could love two men at the same time, but I find I was wrong. I married the first time when I was seventeen to a man who after we were married a year started going out with other women. But I still loved him no matter what he did. After almost three years, he left me and our two children for another woman.

After a while, I met and fell in love with my present husband and he is a wonderful man. But there is something missing and I find myself thinking of my first husband more and more.

Not long ago he called and told me that he still loved me and wanted me back and the very thought of being with him again makes me tremble. But I won't leave my present husband and go back to that kind of life again and besides I love him too.

Sometimes I feel like going away or it will drive me out of my mind. I need help badly, please!

B.J.A.

Dear B.J.A.:

The only thing lacking in your present marriage is your willingness to get your first husband out of your mind. He's like a disease and I recommend major surgery. Cut him out of your heart and mind and make your present marriage meaningful!

Dear Amy:

I am writing this for a very dear old friend of mine who had been invited on Mother's day week-end to a friend in Philadelphia to stay a few days. Saturday evening they had been invited for a turkey dinner party and wanted to take her along but she refused as her husband had died a few months before. She was not in the mood for a party. So she left for home and forgot her dress. Now those friends refused to give the dress when other friends called for it. They want her to come and get it herself. But she has high blood pressure, is over 70 years of age and can stand no more excitement. Isn't there anything we can do about this?

Mrs. H.M.

Dear Mrs. H.M.:

You can do your friend a service by getting in touch with these people and request they return her dress for the reasons you mentioned. If they still refuse, they are not to be considered her friends.

WOMEN RESIDENTS OF REST HOMES OUTNUMBER MEN 2 - 1

Women residents in Texas nursing homes and convalescent care institutions outnumber men residents two to one, State Health Department year-end records show.

Almost 13,000 elderly Texans presently reside in care homes which have passed State Department of Health scrutiny and are licensed under provisions of the home licensure law administered by the health agency.

Despite the fact that Texas was one of the most recent states to spell out regulations aimed at protecting the health, safety and welfare of nursing home patients, the standards now enforced in this state equal or exceed those of other states, department officials believe.

That this is true is borne out when the beneficial aspects and the results obtained under Texas' standards are compared with the situation in other states, says J. W. Hornburg, director of the Texas licensure program.

The Texas law has been in effect since June, 1953.

Hornburg said 321 nursing homes with a capacity of 9,512 beds, and 241 convalescent care homes with a capacity of 4,833 beds, are currently licensed—after having proved the humanness of their operations.

Average age of home residents is 80 years. About 60 per cent of them are recipients of old age assistance checks.

Nursing homes are distinguished from convalescent care homes in that they are required to have supervisory nursing personnel on their staffs. This requirement does not pertain to convalescent care homes, although they must have a physician's statement concerning the physical condition of each patient.

Nursing home bed needs for any given area are calculated on the basis of a widely accepted formula of three beds per 1,000 population. Applying it to the Texas situation shows that approximately 30 per cent of the Texas need has so far been met.

The Texas law covers all establishments which furnish "food and shelter to four or more persons unrelated to the proprietor, and in addition pro-

Highway Flagmen To Wear Red Vests

AUSTIN—The Texas Highway Department today announced a highway safety measure designed to protect the motorist by making him see red—literally.

The Department said it will require flagmen directing traffic at highway construction and maintenance projects to wear bright red vests and to use a flag of the same color.

The men in the red vests will begin appearing on Texas highways by mid-February, when Highway Department employees working on maintenance jobs will don the eye-catching apparel. Made from fluorescent red nylon, the new vests are designed to make flagmen more easily visible and recognizable to motorists both day and night. At night the vests and flags will be supplemented by flares.

Red flags have been used by flagmen in the past but the fluorescent color and the vests are new requirements, made "to insure added safety and convenience for the public in the movement of traffic to and through highway construction and maintenance operations," said D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer. He hailed the new vests as a safety measure not only for the motorists but also for highway workmen.

...AND "LAYS MONEY ON THE LINE" TO BACK UP THE BELIEF

Why is our faith backed by dollars?

Very simply, it is because the Southwest is growing 25% faster than the nation, and the WTU service area is the CENTER OF THE SOUTHWEST.

As a result, one of our major projects is designed to stimulate this growth, and another is designed to add service facilities to meet it. These projects are described briefly below. We will keep you informed of their progress as we go along, since they are of vital importance to this community.

It is our conviction that with faith, vision and cooperative effort on the part of all of us, the Center of the Southwest has a sound foundation for GROWTH UNLIMITED in the years ahead.

OUR AREA DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM PROMOTES

Growth Unlimited

For many years we have been engaged in a program designed to inform business executives about the industrial advantages of the Center of the Southwest.

This activity is being continued in 1961 with an expanded area development program.

It includes a new series of ads running in a number of national publications, which depict the growth potential of this area and the states it serves.

The national advertising schedule, the information brochures we are publishing, the trips we will make to industrial centers, and the fine cooperative spirit of communities like this one, all combine to promote GROWTH UNLIMITED.

$50 MILLION EXPANSION PREPARES FOR

Growth Unlimited

On the shores of Oak Creek Lake in Coke County, construction is progressing rapidly on a large new WTU generating station.

It is tangible evidence of the expansion being made in our generating and distribution facilities, in anticipation of coming growth in the Center of the Southwest.

An area expansion program, costing in excess of $50 million, is well under way, and will continue through the months ahead. It will permit us to keep pace with the growing needs of this growing area.

It is proof that here is GROWTH UNLIMITED.

W. E. DUNNAM HAS OWNED MYSTERY FARM SINCE 1941

The "mystery" farm appearing in the January 12 issue of the Hamlin Herald was the Dunnam's Burkett Pecan Farm located 12 miles south of Hamlin on the Merkel highway.

W. E. Dunnam has owned and operated the orchard farm since 1941, when he purchased the land from B. B. Colwell. Of the 200 acres included in the farm, 150 acres are in pasture and the other 50 is orchard land. Each year many of the area people go to the farm to gather pecans on shares. He also produces pears, plums and grapes.

"We had the best crop last year that we have ever had and since we have had so much good moisture I am expecting an even better harvest this year," said Dunnam.

The Dumnams celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary a year ago. They have four children, Gordon of Freeport, Texas, Mrs. Vera Gaintner of New Mexico, Mrs. Lucille Watts of Odessa and Mrs. Faye Cross of Kermit; and eleven grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

A personal New Year's message to

The housewives of Hamlin

Don't fool yourselves. It's not the men who build your town and determine what kind of community it is—and can become. Not any more anyway. It's the women who build the modern towns, help them grow into cities, or make the decision that causes them to wither and decay. The power is in your hands because you spend the family dollars.

Any Main street is built by buyers—not sellers. And any town to grow and prosper needs to keep its dollars at home creating new jobs, building new homes, and paying for good schools, and a progressive city government.

Just stop and think for a moment...

What can you do to help your community grow bigger and better? The answer is to trade at home whenever and wherever you can.

Every merchant on your Main street knows where his competition is and who it is . . . it's the glitter and bustle of a city not so far away which has been built on the hard-earned dollars of dozens of area towns such as ours.

Your hometown merchants offer you convenience of shopping, a good selection of merchandise, and ready service. The more you trade with them the better their selections become.

If we put all our dollars to work for us here in Hamlin our present stores would soon be twice as big, or there would be twice as many stores. You would appreciate that. But only by shopping at home can we help create such a hometown market. Our alternative is to create a bigger city nearby and a smaller, poorer hometown.

We have well priced merchandise here. We could cite dozens of examples of prices being better on this dress or that piece of furniture than in the city 41 miles down the highway.

We're not scolding. We're just appealing to your desires to see your hometown improved so we all have a better community in which to live.

Togetherness means a lot in all the small towns of this nation. Together we stand. Hamlin's future is in your hands. Let's give our town a better chance in 1961.

CELOTEX REPORTS '60 SALES DOWN 11 PERCENT FROM '59

Chicago—Net sales of The Celotex Corporation for the fiscal year ended October 31, 1960 were $67,964,618 and earnings after taxes were $2,087,128, equal to $1.78 per common share on 1,028,651 shares outstanding. This compares with sales of $76,242,172 and earnings of $4,131,907, or $3.76 per share on the same basis in 1959, according to Henry W. Collins, president.

In his report to stockholders, Mr. Collins said that while Celotex' sales volume was down 11 percent from that of the preceding year, housing starts declined 18 percent in a fall-off which began in the early months of 1960 and became more pronounced during the year.

"Because of the drop in sales, depressed prices on many products resulting from rigorous competitive conditions, wage increases which were not recoverable and higher costs for sales and distribution, our earnings were down from 1959," the Celotex executive said, adding that the company had also experienced unusually heavy operating and start-up expenses at its new L'Anse, Michigan plant, where production of insulation board was begun late last year.

Mr. Collins said he could see "no important change" in Celotex' business level for 1961, though the slight pickup in residential construction generally predicted for the latter part of the year, if it occurs, "should react favorably for us." He also looks for a vigorous and active repair, remodeling and modernization market and continuation of a high level of institutional and commercial construction which "should produce a good demand for our materials."

Celotex' expenditures for property, plant and equipment totaled $5,100,000 during the year, more than half of which was invested in its new fiberboard plant at L'Anse, Michigan. With no major plant ex-

FANTASY, 'THE 3 WORLDS OF GULLIVER' AT ROGUE

One of the most famous childhood classics, Jonathan Swift's tale of Gulliver's adventures with the tiny people of Lilliput and the giants of Brobdingnag, has been filmed by Charles H. Schneer as an engaging and exciting fantasy with almost as much appeal to adults as to the young fry.

"The 3 Worlds of Gulliver" will open Sunday for four days at the Rogue Theatre. The magic of SuperDynamation, which uses trick effects to put live actors of varying sizes on the frames, will amaze audiences. It's ideal holiday fare with the title and theme more exploitable than the cast names, although Kerwin Mathews, who starred in Schneer's "The 7th Voyage of Sinbad," and the British June Thorburn (she was in "tom thumb" for MGM), are familiar to most teenage patrons and make a charming romantic couple.

As directed by Jack Sher, who wrote the screenplay with Arthur Ross, the action opens in 18th Century, England but soon switches to Lilliput, where the tiny people tie Gulliver down with thousands of ropes, and then to Brobdingnag, where a huge seven-year-old keeps Gulliver as a little pet in a cage—both of these sequences being delightfully fantastic.

Jo Morrow has little to do but Basil Sydney and Mary Ellis, as eccentric monarchs, make their scenes count. A Morningside production.

The operator applied for discovery allowable and new field designation of Herring (Swastika) field.

Daily potential was 80.13 barrels of 40.1-gravity oil, flowing through a 12/64 - inch choke and from 4 per foot perforations at 3,090.3096 feet. Casing pressure was 175 pounds and tubing pressure was 80 feet, Casing was set at 3,122 feet, total depth. Gas-oil ratio was 750-1.

ESTIMATED 1961 BEEF SUPPLY TO TOP ALL PREVIOUS RECORDS

College Station — The estimated 1961 meat production will provide consumers of the U. S. with the largest supply of meat in history, both in total and per person. If the estimates prove correct, Lloyd Bergsma, extension livestock marketing specialist, says consumption of red and poultry meats would exceed 200 pounds per person for the first time in history.

Bergsma says livestock producers will be faced with a generally downward trending market during 1961. Prices during the first half of the new year will not feel the effect of increasing supplies as strongly as those for the last half. He expects slaughter cattle to average near 1960 levels during the earlier months of 1961, but increasing supplies of grass cattle and more competition from expanded hog production are expected to have their effect by late summer. The greatest price drops are forecast in the lower grades of cattle.

Dear Mr. Craig,

Thanks so much for reminding us that our subscription to the Hamlin Herald was due. We wouldn't want to miss a single issue. It's our weekly letter from Hamlin.

We lived in Hamlin for nine wonderful years working in the school system.

We have noted with keen interest many changes and improvements in Hamlin, and I might add the Hamlin Herald. We enjoy the many pictures of old friends and their activities which you are gracious to publish.

Our very best congratulations go out to both the Methodist and Baptist congregations in their endeavors to erect new sanctuaries, a lasting monument to their faith in God and themselves.

Sincerely,
Harold and Mrs. Eva Eades.

Over 300 Top Men To Compete in Fort Worth Stock Show

The more than 300 leading cowboys who will compete in Fort Worth's 1961 Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock Show rodeo will be pitted against the biggest, roughest collection of stock used anywhere, reports rodeo producer Harry Knight.

The Fort Worth rodeo will run for 20 performances, Jan. 27 through February 5.

Knight said the "biggest and roughest" label is not just publicity, but fact. The number of performances and cowboy competitors at the Fort Worth rodeo make it the largest user of rodeo livestock. As for ruggedness, the 170 roping calves to be used average more than 300 pounds. They, like the 100 bulldozing steers, have never been used in a rodeo arena before.

In addition to the cowboy competition, the Fort Worth rodeo will spotlight a spectacular re-creation of the wild "Ben-Hur" movie chariot race,
